

LAWYER AND WIFE MAY HAVE DIED IN WOODS

New Hampshire Searching Party Seek Missing Boston Couple.

Special to The Washington Herald.
Dixville Notch, N. H., Sept. 23.—Joseph A. Dennison, of Boston, formerly assistant district attorney for Suffolk County, and his wife, who have been missing since Wednesday, when they started on a walk through the "big woods" near here, were the objects of continued search by several parties today. The search was prosecuted all through the night by men carrying torches, but without developing any trace of the missing couple.

Mr. Dennison and his wife had been here for ten days and apparently were in the best of health, but those familiar with the woods, which are deep and afford little or no aid to human subsistence, express fears for their safety.

8-HOUR LAW DEFENDED IN WILSON'S SPEECH

CONTINUED FROM PAGE ONE

In his talks the President repeatedly pounded with clenched hands a small table before him.

At no time did he mention the Republicans or Mr. Hughes. He was believed to have been answering the charges by Mr. Hughes that the labor unions had forced the Democratic Congress and the chief executive to concede their demands when he said:

"When men say we must not let any organization interfere with the interests of society, I answer 'men'."

Not Played World Part.

"America has not played in the development of world affairs a proper part. To the gifts of Americans and the resources of America. In times to come, partly because of the unhappy circumstances of recent years, but chiefly because America is now about to release her energies, the world of American business will be what men have hitherto not dreamed of, if American men know how to take advantage of the opportunity."

"The problems before American business are world problems rather than American, domestic, problems. America must understand the world in order to subject it to its peaceful service."

"And yet when we look upon the field of American business there are some things that disturb us."

"The chief cloud upon the domestic horizon is the unsatisfactory relations of capital and labor. There is only one way, gentlemen, in which the relations of capital and labor can be rendered satisfactory. That is by, in the first place, regarding labor as a human relationship of men with men; and, in the second place, to regard labor as part of the general partnership of energy which is going to make for the success of business men and business enterprises in this country."

So long as labor and capital stand antagonistic, the interests of both are injured and the prosperity of America is held back from the triumph which is legitimately its own."

A Legalistic People.

"You know that we have been a legalistic people. I say with all due respect to some men, for whom I have a high esteem, that we have been too much under the guidance of the lawyers and that the lawyer has always regarded the relations between the employer and the employee as merely a contract. But it is a relationship between one set of men and another set of men with hearts under their jackets and with interests that they ought to serve in common and with persons they love and must support on the one side and on the other."

"Labor is not a commodity. It is a form of co-operation, and if I can make a man believe in me, know that I am just, know that I want to share the profits of success with him, I can get ten times as much out of him as if he thought I was his antagonist. And his labor is cheap at any price. That is the human side of it, and the human side extends to this conception, that the laboring man is a partner of his employer."

"If he is a mere tool of his employer, he is only as valuable as the tool. His enthusiasm goes not into it. He does not plan away the work shall be better done. He doesn't look upon the aspect of the business or enterprise as a whole and wish to cooperate the advantages of his brains and his invention to the success of a whole."

Governed By Heart.

"Human relationship, my fellow citizens, are governed by the heart, and if the heart is not in it, nothing is in it. I have recently been through an experience which distressed me. I tried to accommodate a difference between some of the employees of the American railroads and the executives of the American railroads, and the distressing thing I discovered was that on the one hand there was unlimited suspicion and distrust of the other side, and that the suspicion and distrust was witnessed by the other side in full measure."

"The executives did not believe in the sincerity of the men, and the men did not believe in the sincerity and fairness of the executives, and while arbitration was being discussed I had that associated with the dealings of hostile interests. It is an alternative of war. There ought to be no such thing as the contemplation of hostility between men whose interests are the same and who should co-operate together."

"And, therefore, it came upon me with a force that it never had before that the real problem of capital and labor was to bring the two sides to understand and believe in one another; that the problem of the next generation, if America were really to release her energy, was to be this real, genuine, fundamental, reconciliation between capital and labor."

Backs 8-Hour Day.

"I saw at once that there was one part of the situation that was arbitrable, but that in my opinion there was another part that was not arbitrable."

"I do not regard the question of the principle of the eight-hour day as arbitrable."

"The first thing I told both sides before I requested their opinion was that I stood for the eight-hour day."

"We believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day, and that the whole theory of it, a theory which is sustained now by abundant experience, is that his efficiency is increased, his spirit in his work is improved, and the whole moral and physical vigor of the man is added to."

Liner Wrecked; All Saved.

Cape Elizabeth, Me., Sept. 23.—The coastwise steamer Bay State was reported ashore early today about a mile to the westward of Two Lights, near here. The Bay State, from Boston to Portland, Me., carried 250 passengers, all of whom were safely taken off by revenue cutters and three tugs. At last accounts the captain and crew were standing by. The sea and wind were rising.

300,000 Women Making Shells.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Three hundred thousand women of France are now employed in the munitions factories. Minister of Munitions Thoms said today, "and the number is about to be doubled."

Backs 8-Hour Day.

"I saw at once that there was one part of the situation that was arbitrable, but that in my opinion there was another part that was not arbitrable."

"I do not regard the question of the principle of the eight-hour day as arbitrable."

"The first thing I told both sides before I requested their opinion was that I stood for the eight-hour day."

"We believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day, and that the whole theory of it, a theory which is sustained now by abundant experience, is that his efficiency is increased, his spirit in his work is improved, and the whole moral and physical vigor of the man is added to."

Liner Wrecked; All Saved.

Cape Elizabeth, Me., Sept. 23.—The coastwise steamer Bay State was reported ashore early today about a mile to the westward of Two Lights, near here. The Bay State, from Boston to Portland, Me., carried 250 passengers, all of whom were safely taken off by revenue cutters and three tugs. At last accounts the captain and crew were standing by. The sea and wind were rising.

300,000 Women Making Shells.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Three hundred thousand women of France are now employed in the munitions factories. Minister of Munitions Thoms said today, "and the number is about to be doubled."

Backs 8-Hour Day.

"I saw at once that there was one part of the situation that was arbitrable, but that in my opinion there was another part that was not arbitrable."

"I do not regard the question of the principle of the eight-hour day as arbitrable."

"The first thing I told both sides before I requested their opinion was that I stood for the eight-hour day."

"We believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day, and that the whole theory of it, a theory which is sustained now by abundant experience, is that his efficiency is increased, his spirit in his work is improved, and the whole moral and physical vigor of the man is added to."

Liner Wrecked; All Saved.

Cape Elizabeth, Me., Sept. 23.—The coastwise steamer Bay State was reported ashore early today about a mile to the westward of Two Lights, near here. The Bay State, from Boston to Portland, Me., carried 250 passengers, all of whom were safely taken off by revenue cutters and three tugs. At last accounts the captain and crew were standing by. The sea and wind were rising.

NEW BLACKMAIL ROUND-UP.

Federal Officials Expect Several More Arrests on Monday.

New York, Sept. 23.—Federal officials in charge of the investigation of the big blackmail plot, that now includes many cities and a large number of prominent victims, said today several new arrests would be made Monday.

They declined to give any inkling as to expected developments. The first trial in the series, contrary to the first decision by the attorney general, will be called in Philadelphia in two weeks. It will concern the kidnapping of Mrs. Regina A. Kilpper, a government witness.

MRS. DILWORTH SHIELDS SON FROM NOTORIETY

Refuses to Appear at Inquest Into the Slaying of Lawyer-Husband.

Special to The Washington Herald.

New York, Sept. 23.—To shield her son from the notoriety of a public inquest, Mrs. Grace Dilworth, it was learned today, has refused to appear at the inquest into the murder of her husband, Dwight P. Dilworth, who was shot to death while automobiling with Miss Mary V. McNiff in Van Cortlandt Park.

Mrs. Dilworth, who was in the West when her husband was murdered, returned to her home at Montclair, N. J., with the one desire to bring the slayer or slayers to justice. She gave the district attorney and police every assistance in their investigation. She was eager to aid in every way.

Now that days have rolled into weeks with the mysterious shooting still unsolved, the yearning to protect her only child from further notoriety has become still stronger.

"When men say we must not let any organization interfere with the interests of society, I answer 'men'."

Not Played World Part.

"America has not played in the development of world affairs a proper part. To the gifts of Americans and the resources of America. In times to come, partly because of the unhappy circumstances of recent years, but chiefly because America is now about to release her energies, the world of American business will be what men have hitherto not dreamed of, if American men know how to take advantage of the opportunity."

"The problems before American business are world problems rather than American, domestic, problems. America must understand the world in order to subject it to its peaceful service."

"And yet when we look upon the field of American business there are some things that disturb us."

"The chief cloud upon the domestic horizon is the unsatisfactory relations of capital and labor. There is only one way, gentlemen, in which the relations of capital and labor can be rendered satisfactory. That is by, in the first place, regarding labor as a human relationship of men with men; and, in the second place, to regard labor as part of the general partnership of energy which is going to make for the success of business men and business enterprises in this country."

So long as labor and capital stand antagonistic, the interests of both are injured and the prosperity of America is held back from the triumph which is legitimately its own."

A Legalistic People.

"You know that we have been a legalistic people. I say with all due respect to some men, for whom I have a high esteem, that we have been too much under the guidance of the lawyers and that the lawyer has always regarded the relations between the employer and the employee as merely a contract. But it is a relationship between one set of men and another set of men with hearts under their jackets and with interests that they ought to serve in common and with persons they love and must support on the one side and on the other."

"Labor is not a commodity. It is a form of co-operation, and if I can make a man believe in me, know that I am just, know that I want to share the profits of success with him, I can get ten times as much out of him as if he thought I was his antagonist. And his labor is cheap at any price. That is the human side of it, and the human side extends to this conception, that the laboring man is a partner of his employer."

If he is a mere tool of his employer, he is only as valuable as the tool. His enthusiasm goes not into it. He does not plan away the work shall be better done. He doesn't look upon the aspect of the business or enterprise as a whole and wish to cooperate the advantages of his brains and his invention to the success of a whole."

Governed By Heart.

"Human relationship, my fellow citizens, are governed by the heart, and if the heart is not in it, nothing is in it. I have recently been through an experience which distressed me. I tried to accommodate a difference between some of the employees of the American railroads and the executives of the American railroads, and the distressing thing I discovered was that on the one hand there was unlimited suspicion and distrust of the other side, and that the suspicion and distrust was witnessed by the other side in full measure."

"The executives did not believe in the sincerity of the men, and the men did not believe in the sincerity and fairness of the executives, and while arbitration was being discussed I had that associated with the dealings of hostile interests. It is an alternative of war. There ought to be no such thing as the contemplation of hostility between men whose interests are the same and who should co-operate together."

"And, therefore, it came upon me with a force that it never had before that the real problem of capital and labor was to bring the two sides to understand and believe in one another; that the problem of the next generation, if America were really to release her energy, was to be this real, genuine, fundamental, reconciliation between capital and labor."

Backs 8-Hour Day.

"I saw at once that there was one part of the situation that was arbitrable, but that in my opinion there was another part that was not arbitrable."

"I do not regard the question of the principle of the eight-hour day as arbitrable."

"The first thing I told both sides before I requested their opinion was that I stood for the eight-hour day."

"We believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day, and that the whole theory of it, a theory which is sustained now by abundant experience, is that his efficiency is increased, his spirit in his work is improved, and the whole moral and physical vigor of the man is added to."

Liner Wrecked; All Saved.

Cape Elizabeth, Me., Sept. 23.—The coastwise steamer Bay State was reported ashore early today about a mile to the westward of Two Lights, near here. The Bay State, from Boston to Portland, Me., carried 250 passengers, all of whom were safely taken off by revenue cutters and three tugs. At last accounts the captain and crew were standing by. The sea and wind were rising.

300,000 Women Making Shells.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Three hundred thousand women of France are now employed in the munitions factories. Minister of Munitions Thoms said today, "and the number is about to be doubled."

Backs 8-Hour Day.

"I saw at once that there was one part of the situation that was arbitrable, but that in my opinion there was another part that was not arbitrable."

"I do not regard the question of the principle of the eight-hour day as arbitrable."

"The first thing I told both sides before I requested their opinion was that I stood for the eight-hour day."

"We believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day, and that the whole theory of it, a theory which is sustained now by abundant experience, is that his efficiency is increased, his spirit in his work is improved, and the whole moral and physical vigor of the man is added to."

Liner Wrecked; All Saved.

Cape Elizabeth, Me., Sept. 23.—The coastwise steamer Bay State was reported ashore early today about a mile to the westward of Two Lights, near here. The Bay State, from Boston to Portland, Me., carried 250 passengers, all of whom were safely taken off by revenue cutters and three tugs. At last accounts the captain and crew were standing by. The sea and wind were rising.

300,000 Women Making Shells.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Three hundred thousand women of France are now employed in the munitions factories. Minister of Munitions Thoms said today, "and the number is about to be doubled."

Backs 8-Hour Day.

"I saw at once that there was one part of the situation that was arbitrable, but that in my opinion there was another part that was not arbitrable."

"I do not regard the question of the principle of the eight-hour day as arbitrable."

"The first thing I told both sides before I requested their opinion was that I stood for the eight-hour day."

"We believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day, and that the whole theory of it, a theory which is sustained now by abundant experience, is that his efficiency is increased, his spirit in his work is improved, and the whole moral and physical vigor of the man is added to."

GIRL FOUND TIED AND GAGGED IN APARTMENT

Widow Says She Was Attacked by Unknown Man Second Time.

Special to The Washington Herald.

New York, Sept. 23.—When a grocer boy, William Schwartz, found a negro maid, Virginia Groves, 19 years old, lying inert, her face to the wall, her apron stuffed in her mouth and her ankles bound loosely with a strand of weak cotton twine, in the hall of the apartment house at 860 East One Hundred Sixty-first street, the Bronx, this morning at 6 o'clock, he thought she was dead.

The authorities were informed by William Schwartz, superintendent of the building, to whom the boy carried the news.

Meanwhile Dr. Globus of the Lincoln Hospital arrived, applied his stethoscope and found the girl's heart still beating. When revived she said that she had been attacked at 10 o'clock last night by a man who had bound and gagged her. Until she was brought to consciousness this morning she said she knew nothing else.

Two hours before the attack she had been attacked. In Freeport, L. I., in August of last year, and in West Fifty-fourth street in 1914.

DEFEO SAYS ROBINSON CRUSOE ROBBED HOME

Bellefontaine, Ohio, Sept. 23.—"What do you know about Robinson Crusoe getting out of DeFo's house?" asked Sheriff George Smith when he brought back from Kenton a prisoner, who says his name is Robinson Crusoe, charged with robbing the farm home of Elisha DeFo, near Huntsville.

When Mr. and Mrs. DeFo returned home and found that their home had been robbed and a complete outfit of DeFo's clothing taken they turned their horse toward Kenton in pursuit. As they were driving over a bridge DeFo declares he glimpsed his suit of clothes adorning a man who was bathing his feet in a stream. He got an officer, who in turn got Robinson Crusoe.

DAUGHTER OF FORMER MOOSE LEADER WEDS

Riverdale-on-Hudson, N. Y., Sept. 23.—Several score persons, prominent in society and politics, gathered here today for the wedding of Miss Dorothy Perkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Perkins, and Edward W. Freeman, at the home of the bride's parents near here.

Mr. Perkins is the former Bull Moose leader, who is now supporting Charles E. Hughes.

The plans for the ceremony promise an imposing affair. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. B. W. Freeman, whose estate is near that of the Perkins'. He and Miss Perkins have been friends since childhood.

He is a Yale graduate, class of '15. Miss Perkins had divided her time between society and charitable work.

Tell of Rescue at Sea.

New York, Sept. 23.—Stories of the rescue of one passenger and eighteen crew of the Italian steamer Siena, after she had been sunk without warning by a German or Austrian submarine last August, were brought to this port today by officers of the Italian ship San Guglielmo, of the Pierce Line.

HOW ARE YOUR EYES?

If you suffer from headache, neuralgia, dizziness, spots floating before the eyes, blinking, cataract, burning and smarting of the eyes, blurred sight, various nervous and brain affections, entailing not only positive injury to the sight, but untold misery, call and consult.

SAMUEL

Eye-Sight Specialist.

1209 G St. N. W.

Consultation Free. CHARGES REASONABLE.

Constipation Headache

Dr. Chase's Liver Tablets

Make the liver active, bowels regular without pain or griping, relieve sick headache and that bloated feeling, induce restful sleep and clear the complexion. Large box, enough to last a month, 25c. Dr. Chase Co., 224 N. 10th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

PARALYSIS

By Dr. Chase's Special Blood and Nerve Tablets.

Dr. Chase, 224 N. Tenth Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Piles

BOSAN-KO'S PILE REMEDY

Gives instant relief in itching, burning, bleeding or protruding piles. 50c. The Dr. Bosanko Co., Philadelphia, Pa.

Backs 8-Hour Day.

"I saw at once that there was one part of the situation that was arbitrable, but that in my opinion there was another part that was not arbitrable."

"I do not regard the question of the principle of the eight-hour day as arbitrable."

"The first thing I told both sides before I requested their opinion was that I stood for the eight-hour day."

"We believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day, and that the whole theory of it, a theory which is sustained now by abundant experience, is that his efficiency is increased, his spirit in his work is improved, and the whole moral and physical vigor of the man is added to."

Liner Wrecked; All Saved.

Cape Elizabeth, Me., Sept. 23.—The coastwise steamer Bay State was reported ashore early today about a mile to the westward of Two Lights, near here. The Bay State, from Boston to Portland, Me., carried 250 passengers, all of whom were safely taken off by revenue cutters and three tugs. At last accounts the captain and crew were standing by. The sea and wind were rising.

300,000 Women Making Shells.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Three hundred thousand women of France are now employed in the munitions factories. Minister of Munitions Thoms said today, "and the number is about to be doubled."

Backs 8-Hour Day.

"I saw at once that there was one part of the situation that was arbitrable, but that in my opinion there was another part that was not arbitrable."

"I do not regard the question of the principle of the eight-hour day as arbitrable."

"The first thing I told both sides before I requested their opinion was that I stood for the eight-hour day."

"We believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day, and that the whole theory of it, a theory which is sustained now by abundant experience, is that his efficiency is increased, his spirit in his work is improved, and the whole moral and physical vigor of the man is added to."

Liner Wrecked; All Saved.

Cape Elizabeth, Me., Sept. 23.—The coastwise steamer Bay State was reported ashore early today about a mile to the westward of Two Lights, near here. The Bay State, from Boston to Portland, Me., carried 250 passengers, all of whom were safely taken off by revenue cutters and three tugs. At last accounts the captain and crew were standing by. The sea and wind were rising.

300,000 Women Making Shells.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Three hundred thousand women of France are now employed in the munitions factories. Minister of Munitions Thoms said today, "and the number is about to be doubled."

DEPEW TO NOTIFY WHITMAN.

Former Senator Will Speak at Ceremony Tomorrow.

New York, Sept. 23.—Gov. Whitman and William M. Calder will be formally notified of their respective nominations on the Republican ticket Monday night at the Republican Club.

President James R. Sheffield, of the club, will preside. Former United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew will make the speech of notification for Gov. Whitman and United States Senator Wagner will perform a like office for Calder.

GIRLISH WIFE FEARS HUSBAND IS MURDERER

Keeps Her Dread Secret Five Years, but Finally Tells Police.

Oakland, Cal., Sept. 23.—For five years Clara May Liley, deserted child wife, kept secret in her heart her belief that her husband, Edward J. Liley, had committed murder, only to bring it to light finally in seeking a divorce or annulment of her marriage.

On the strength of her strange revelations, Sheriff Frank Barnett says he has set in motion the machinery of the law which is now reaching out for Liley, in the hope that Liley may aid in clearing up the mystery surrounding the death of Thomas Katrus, or Raffleton, as he was known, who was murdered on Bear River, nine miles from Auburn, Placer County, in the spring of 1911.

These figures in the investigation that Sheriff Barnett has launched and in which Sheriff George McAuley, of Placer County, is taking part, several buttons and photographs taken from Mrs. Liley's trunk. These things, she says, had belonged to her husband. The pictures, declares Sheriff Barnett, are those of the murdered man.

Mrs. Liley is but 19 years old. She was 14 when she was attracted by Liley, then a drummer in a Salvation Army band. Following a quick courtship she married him in December, 1910, with the consent, she says, of her father J. J. Trammell.

Backs 8-Hour Day.

"I saw at once that there was one part of the situation that was arbitrable, but that in my opinion there was another part that was not arbitrable."

"I do not regard the question of the principle of the eight-hour day as arbitrable."

"The first thing I told both sides before I requested their opinion was that I stood for the eight-hour day."

"We believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day, and that the whole theory of it, a theory which is sustained now by abundant experience, is that his efficiency is increased, his spirit in his work is improved, and the whole moral and physical vigor of the man is added to."

Liner Wrecked; All Saved.

Cape Elizabeth, Me., Sept. 23.—The coastwise steamer Bay State was reported ashore early today about a mile to the westward of Two Lights, near here. The Bay State, from Boston to Portland, Me., carried 250 passengers, all of whom were safely taken off by revenue cutters and three tugs. At last accounts the captain and crew were standing by. The sea and wind were rising.

300,000 Women Making Shells.

Paris, Sept. 23.—Three hundred thousand women of France are now employed in the munitions factories. Minister of Munitions Thoms said today, "and the number is about to be doubled."

Backs 8-Hour Day.

"I saw at once that there was one part of the situation that was arbitrable, but that in my opinion there was another part that was not arbitrable."

"I do not regard the question of the principle of the eight-hour day as arbitrable."

"The first thing I told both sides before I requested their opinion was that I stood for the eight-hour day."

"We believe in the eight-hour day because a man does better work within eight hours than he does within a more extended day, and that the whole theory of it, a theory which is sustained now by abundant experience, is that his efficiency is increased, his spirit in his work is improved, and the whole moral and physical vigor of the man is added to."